CiDRA Minerals Processing Inc. Expanding Service and Support in Australia
Appoints Technical Director for Asia Pacific

Melbourne, Australia and Wallingford, CT – July 11, 2017: CiDRA Minerals Processing has recently announced the appointment of Aaron Thomas as Technical Director for Australia. CiDRA has created the role to ensure it strengthens its technical expertise in Australia, in response to the growing demand for CiDRA's SONARtrac® and CYCLONEtrac™ process monitoring and optimisation systems. Utilising these technology platforms, Aaron's charter is to focus on process optimisation services for the minerals processing industry to address several key initiatives of operators: enhanced recovery, asset availability, service and support.

Aaron brings with him over 15 years of experience in applying industrial sensors to minerals processing industries to develop real time monitoring and control that quantifies and captures lost revenue opportunity due to process variations. As a Chemical Engineer with a broad range of commercial experience from the various managerial roles that he served throughout his career, Aaron will help support and grow the depth and breadth of CiDRA's products and services. Based out of Melbourne, he will work closely with David Roberts, Director Asia Pacific and will be key to CiDRA's expanded service and support business.

"We are extremely pleased and excited to have Aaron join the team", said David Roberts, Director of Asia Pacific, also based out of Melbourne. "His experience and track record for managing and expanding product and services for enhanced recovery and efficiencies will enable CiDRA to deliver unprecedented asset and process optimisation services to our customers"

"Aaron, together with David, will continue to build upon a service culture that creates and enhances relationships, and adds quantifiable value for our customers", said John Viega, Vice President of CiDRA Global Sales and Services.
